

Director Farmer Featured Speaker at iTs/SC Executive Speaker's Series

Ray Farmer, Director of the South Carolina Department of Insurance spoke to more than sixty individuals at the Executive Speakers Series event hosted by iTs/SC this past Wednesday, June 25, 2014. Insurance Technology and Services South Carolina (iTs/SC) is an economic development cluster of businesses, educational institutions and industry professionals working to promote the greater Columbia area as the destination for insurance, insurance technology and insurance services.

Director Farmer's presentation focused on the impact the Affordable Care Act has had on South Carolina markets as well as a discussion of the recent technological enhancements the Department has made under his guidance. Director Farmer thanked the attendees for their interest and dedication in helping to expand the insurance technology industry in South Carolina. "The Department is pleased to have an organization like iTs/SC working to promote South Carolina as a business friendly state and to further the awareness and support of the insurance technology and services industry," said Director Farmer.
